Family legal expenses

Two levels offering flexible cover for clients

Helping Hand

Anyone who has ever been involved in a dispute for one thing or another will know the anxiety that often accompanies these situations.

Whilst we can't promise your clients a stress free life, our family legal protection policy can offer a helping hand when these difficult circumstances arise. And as very few people now qualify for assistance in civil legal proceedings it may prove invaluable to pursue a dispute.

Benefits

Our extended family legal policy can be of assistance in any of the following situations:

- the sale or purchase of goods and services, even those relating to building work carried out on your client's home
- Providing assistance in resolving insurance claims, where there is a dispute over the benefits of the Policy
- If your client's identity is used by another person to commit fraud or other crimes
- Against an employment dispute such as a claim for unfair dismissal or redundancy, or if during the course of employment a criminal charge is or could be brought against your client
- Pursuing a claim for death or injury against a negligent third party
- Helping your client when there is a formal aspect or full enquiry into their personal tax affairs
- Disputes with neighbours regarding a boundary dispute, noise or other legal nuisance
